

Short-term Mission from Overseas – Touching Hearts

The Prison Fellowship Taiwan invited a mission from the New Hope Church in Jecheon, South Korea to visit Taichung Prison on January 17th, 2017, before Chinese New Year, hoping that their religious performance will edify the inmates to become more tolerant and willing to turn over a new leaf and return to society.

The short term mission comprised of 27 Koreans. Aside from the adults leading the mission, most are elementary school students that are part of the performance. The language barrier did not cause any inconvenience watching their concentrated and enthusiastic performances, which included dance, musical instruments, short play, and traditional fan dance. The inmates of Taichung Prison was dazzled and in disbelief that the performers were merely children.

External expressions touching the heart is the most effective and direct way of edification, because people are good in nature, and even those who have committed horrible crimes still have a shred of good in their hearts. Finding this shred of good is the only way to bring those who have done wrong back one day.

We thank these little angels that traveled here from overseas. Your performance not only brought everyone a touching afternoon, but also inspired us to look into ourselves for good, providing a bright path for every inmate with the heart for good and create their own stage in life.
